Dear Mr. Cherukuri:

On behalf of Navy Expeditionary Medical Support Command, I would like to express my appreciation for one of your employees, Mr. Corey J. Snapp. As a contractor working with us, Mr. Snapp's information technology skills and dedicated work ethic have greatly enhanced the mission of the Information Systems Department.

Mr. Snapp has been selected as the Command's Contract Employee of the Year for Calendar Year 2008. This recognition attests to his continued outstanding support and commitment to this organization.

Sincerely,

The Commanding Officer
Takes pleasure in presenting a

LETTER OF COMMENDATION

To

COREY J. SNAPP

For service as set forth in the following

CITATION:

"For outstanding performance of duty as reflected by his selection as the Navy Expeditionary Medical Support Command's Contractor of the Year for calendar year 2008. Throughout the year Mr. Snapp performed his duties as the Command's Senior Help Desk Technician with unmatched professionalism and enthusiasm. He assisted with configuring the infrastructure devices in the Command's secondary Network Operations Center. He entered a vast amount of data during a short time frame which was extremely significant given his limited prior experience using the Command's database. This accomplishment made him a key member of the team which prepared the database to interface with the DOD Unique Identification Standards data repository. He processed over 550 Help Desk jobs while continually eliminating or minimizing user downtime. Prior to providing indoctrination and specialized training for a new Help Desk Technician, he was able to maintain a high level of customer service during a period of personnel turnover. He also participated in several higher headquarter's mandated computer task orders which enabled the Command to meet short-fused deadlines and address critical information security configuration mandates. Additionally, he successfully completed the Security+, Network+, and Microsoft Certification Professional certifications. Mr. Snapp's professionalism and devotion to duty reflected great credit upon himself and were in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service."
